

A.A. ANDERSON

---

Abraham Archibald Anderson, while generally known as an artist, was a very talented and diverse individual. He was also a big game hunter, organist, rancher, architect, poet, city clubman, marksman, expert bridge player, pilot, horseman, world traveler, Colonel of Forest Rangers, founder of the American Art Association in Paris, conservationist, philanthropist, chairman of the New York City Traffic Commission, and a 'wildly extravagant' spender.
